What was accomplished last week:

Last week we finally got to filling out most of our tickets with their required details. A few of them still need their pending requirements filled out which will be handled later. We also got to the initial set up of our flutter project.

Plans for coming week:

This week we plan on organizing our flutter project into its mobile/web sides. We also need to do some preliminary research on how to connect a backend to our app. We plan on using firebase since it'll integrate natively with flutter. Besides that, will each pick up some initial quick tickets to knock out like the splash screen and the initial welcome page.

Issues or concerns:
